Aims and scope

Central Asian Survey is an established peer-reviewed, multi-disciplinary journal concerned with the history, politics, cultures, religions and economies of the Central Asian and Caucasian regions. These include primarily the republics of former Soviet Central Asia and the South and North Caucasus. Also covered are Chinese Xinjiang, Mongolia, Afghanistan, Iran and Turkey in relation to their links/policies vis-a-vis Central Asia.

The central aim of Central Asian Survey is to reflect and promote advances in area-based scholarship in the social sciences and humanities and enhance understanding of processes of local and regional change that make Central Asia and the Caucasus an area of significant contemporary interest. Central Asian Survey publishes original research articles, review essays, book reviews and author-critic fora, and welcomes proposals from Guest Editors for special issues or special sections.
