

Interfaith Dialogue

Cross-Cultural Views

© Ghainaa Publications, 2010

King Fahd National Library Cataloging -in-Publication Data

A Group of Scholars

Interfaith dialogue: Cross Cultural Views / A
Group of Scholars. - Riyadh, 2010

197p: 15 × 21Cm

ISBN:978-603-90095-4-2

1-Interfaith religion 2-Dialogue - Religious aspects - Islam I-Title

214 dc 1431/1628

L.D. no. 1431/1628

ISBN:978-603-90095-4-2

غينا للنشر
Ghainaa Publications

In cooperation with

Muslim World League (MWL)

First Edition, 2010

Copyright Strictly Reserved for Publisher

To Contact Publisher
ghainaabook@hotmail.com
www.ghainaa.net

In the Name of God
Most Gracious, Most Merciful

The views expressed by contributors do not necessarily reflect the opinion of Ghainaa Communication and Studies or the Muslim World League.

Contents

Prelude	7
Prof. Mohammed Al-Bishr
Introduction
Interfaith Dialogue: From Makkah to New York	10
Prof. Abdullah Al-Turki
Islam and Dialogue With The Other	23
The Islamic View of Dialogue With the Other	24
Dr. Salih bin Humaid
Dialogue and Relation With Followers of Religions	49
Dialogue and Co-existence Between Followers of Religions and Cultures	50
Prof. Ezzedine Ibrahim
Jewish- Christian-Muslim Relations in Light of the Saudi Initiative for Dialogue	74
Dr. Edward Kessler
Religious Dialogue in Denmark: A Personal Experience	86
Abdul Wahid Pedersen
Knowledge on Islam and Enhancing Interfaith Dialogue in Japan	96
Dr. Kenta Kasai

Problems That Can be Solved Through Dialogue ...	109
Lack of Knowledge About Others	110
Dr. John Habib
Differentiating Between Islam and Muslims	132
Dr. Mohammed Al-Sammak
Political Exploitation: The Politics of Fear	150
Prof. William Baker
Dialogue and the Exploitation of Thought	164
Jeff Gates
Index	188

The call for dialogue between followers of different religions is an attempt to have influential personalities across the world meet on the basis of noble values. It is also an attempt to eliminate injustice, faith deviation, and moral decay, as well as to restore good values in society.

These high goals will not, however, bear fruit and attain their objectives, which all rational people aspire for, unless all those involved in the process of dialogue free themselves from political and cultural exploitation. Those participating in dialogue should have sincere and objective information about others. Honesty and fairness should also prevail among all dialogue-participating parties.