

MILLENNIUM SUPPLEMENT: BIODIVERSITY

VOL. 195, NO. 2

FEBRUARY 1999

NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC

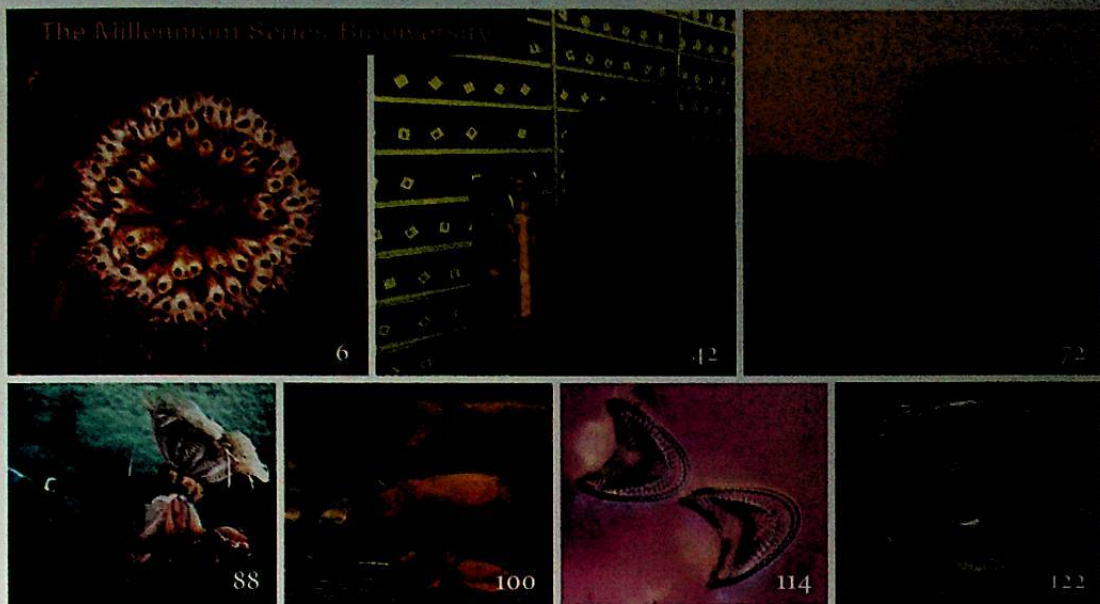

BIODIVERSITY

The Fragile Web

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC SOCIETY WASHINGTON, D.C.

NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC

FEBRUARY 1999

- 2 Biodiversity: Taking Stock of Life Hosting an astonishing array of living things, our hospitable planet is becoming less so for many species. An introduction to this special issue.

BY JOEL L. SWERDLOW

■ Millennium Supplement: Biodiversity

- 6 The Variety of Life ■ Wilderness Headcount ■ The Sixth Extinction ■ Restoring Madagascar ■ In Search of Solutions Species too numerous to count are disappearing too quickly to record. From Central America to Asia, five articles take you to the front lines of the fight to save Earth's biological treasures.

BY VIRGINIA MORELL PHOTOGRAPHS BY FRANS LANTING

- 88 Under Antarctic Ice Diving beneath a stark, frozen desert, ocean explorers discover a world of startling color, clarity, and life.

ARTICLE AND PHOTOGRAPHS BY NORBERT WU

- 100 Forest Elephants In a remote clearing in the Central African Republic, biologist Andrea Turkalo observes the lives of endangered animals that until recently were only glimpsed through the trees.

PHOTOGRAPHS BY MICHAEL FAY AND MICHAEL NICHOLS

- 114 Diatoms, Plants With a Touch of Glass Under a high-powered microscope the silica shells of single-celled algae are revealed in all their manifold beauty.

ARTICLE AND PHOTOGRAPHS BY DALRYNE A. MURAWSKI

- 122 Ants and Plants—A Profitable Partnership In nutrient-poor forests ants and plants have evolved to meet each other's needs. Rare photographs from Borneo show the only known swimming ants helping their hosts—pitcher plants—digest other insects.

ARTICLE AND PHOTOGRAPHS BY MARK W. MOFFETT

Departments

Behind the Scenes
Millennium Moments
Forum
Geographica
Earth Almanac
Interactive
From the Editor

Flashback
On Assignment

The Cover

Peering out from red Australian sands, a desert spadefoot frog emerges for a rare drink of water. Photograph by Frans Lanting

♻️ Cover printed on recycled-content paper

For membership please call
1-800-NGS-LINE

Special device for the hearing-impaired
(TDD) 1-800-548-9797