

Sui-Tang China and Its Turko-Mongol Neighbors

CULTURE, POWER, AND CONNECTIONS, 580–800

Jonathan Karam Skaff

TABLE OF CONTENTS

List of Maps, Figures, and Tables xiii

Acknowledgments xv

Conventions of Transliteration and Translation xix

Introduction: The China-Inner Asia Frontier as World History 3

I. METHOD AND THEORY 4

II. CHINA-INNER ASIA RELATIONS 6

A. Eurasian Diplomacy 8

B. Sui-Tang Cosmopolitanism 9

C. Identity and Power: Patrimonialism 11

D. China-Inner Asia Borderlands 15

E. Environment 17

F. Warfare 18

PART ONE: HISTORICAL AND GEOGRAPHICAL BACKGROUND

1. Eastern Eurasian Geography, History, and Warfare 23

I. ECOLOGY OF EASTERN EURASIA 24

A. Historical Perspectives on Climatic and Ecological Change 24

B. Charting the Tang-Inner Asia Borderlands 26

II. SUI-TANG EMPIRES 31

III. TURKO-MONGOL ECONOMY AND SOCIOPOLITICAL ORGANIZATION 33

A. Geographical Distribution of Pastoral Nomads in Eastern Eurasia 35

IV. EASTERN EURASIAN BALANCE OF POWER 39

A. Imperial Jousting 39

B. Frontier Defenses 48

CONCLUSION 50

2. China-Inner Asian Borderlands: Discourse and Reality 52

- I. CONCEPTS OF "BARBARIANS" 52
 - A. Sui-Tang Writers of History 52
 - B. Elite Discourses on Frontiers and "Barbarians" 53
 - C. Legal and Administrative Concepts of Ethnicity 60
- II. BORDERLAND COMPLEXITIES 63
 - A. Cultural Interaction and Adaptation 63
 - B. Society and Economy of Turfan (Xizhou): A Case Study 65
- CONCLUSION 71

PART TWO: EASTERN EURASIAN SOCIETY AND CULTURE

3. Power through Patronage: Patrimonial Political Networking 75

- I. PATRON-CLIENT RELATIONSHIPS IN INNER ASIA AND NORTH CHINA 77
 - A. Turko-Mongol Leaders 77
 - B. North China Rebels 80
- II. SUI-TANG PATRON-CLIENT NETWORKS 83
 - A. Civil Officials 83
 - B. Military Officers 87
- III. IMPERIAL PATRIMONIALISM 92
 - A. Client Networks in Consolidation of Imperial Power 92
 - B. Patrimonial Benevolence and Generosity 95
- IV. HORIZONTAL ALLIANCES 98
- V. LOYALTY IDEALS OF MILITARY MEN 100
 - A. Taizong and Qibi Heli: An Exemplary Dyad 100
- CONCLUSION 102

4. Ideology and Interstate Competition 105

- I. EURASIAN IMPERIAL SPACE 106
 - A. Turkic Peripheries 106
 - B. Sui-Tang Periphery 107
- II. EASTERN EURASIAN LEGITIMACY 109
 - A. Sui-Tang Confucian Ideology 109
 - B. Turkic Ideology 111
- III. IDEOLOGICAL COMPETITION AND CONVERGENCE 115
 - A. Origins 115
 - B. Heavenly Qaghan Ideology 119
 - C. A Buddhist-Influenced Interlude 123
 - D. Decline of Competition 124

IV. EDUCATION AND IDEOLOGICAL EXCHANGE 127

A. Northern Dynasties, Sui, and Tang 127

B. Turko-Mongol Peoples 129

CONCLUSION 132

5. Diplomacy as Eurasian Ritual 134

I. RITUALS OF DIPLOMACY 135

A. Tang Ritual Prescriptions 135

B. The Tang "Political Family" 140

1. Inclusiveness of Domestic Rites 140

2. Imperial Prerogative and Propaganda 141

3. Feng and Shan Rites: A Case Study 144

C. Eurasian Diplomatic Rituals 148

II. INVESTITURE AS SYMBOLIC SUBORDINATION 155

A. Male (and Sometimes Female) Dress in Eurasia 156

B. Turko-Mongol Investiture 158

C. Sui-Tang Investiture of Outer Clients 162

CONCLUSION: EURASIAN DIPLOMACY IN PERSPECTIVE 166

PART THREE: NEGOTIATING DIPLOMATIC RELATIONSHIPS

6. Negotiating Investiture 171

I. INVESTITURE OF OUTER CLIENTS 172

A. Turko-Mongol Investiture 172

B. Sui-Tang Investiture 176

C. Puppet Rulers: A Case Study of the Western Türks 179

D. Grand Strategy: A Case Study of the Türgish 181

II. TANG APPOINTMENT OF BRIDLE OFFICIALS 184

A. Negotiated Relationships 185

B. Strong and Weak Attachments 188

1. Tiele/Toghuz-Oghuz/Uighur 188

2. Chuyue/Shatuo 190

III. FORMALIZATION OF DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS 191

A. Oaths, Covenants, and Pacts 192

B. Tang Covenants with Equal Powers 194

C. Sui-Tang Pacts with Outer Clients 197

CONCLUSION 201

7. Negotiating Kinship	203
I. POLITICAL MARRIAGES	203
A. Turko-Mongol Political Marriages	204
B. Tang Domestic Marriage Patterns	207
C. Strategic Culture of Diplomatic Marriages	209
1. Sui-Tang Strategic Culture	210
2. Turko-Mongol Strategic Culture	219
3. Material Incentives for Political Marriages	222
II. FICTIVE KINSHIP	224
A. Fictive Kinship Bonding in North China	225
B. Imperial Surname Bestowal	227
CONCLUSION	238
8. Horse Trading and Other Material Bargains	241
I. PASTORAL NOMADIC LIFE UNDER TURKO-MONGOL RULE	242
A. Administration and Taxation	243
B. Economic Opportunities	244
II. PASTORAL NOMADIC LIFE UNDER SUI-TANG RULE	247
A. Administration and Taxation	247
B. Economic Opportunities	252
C. Mutual Benefits	257
III. TANG HORSE SYSTEM AND THE HORSE TRADE	258
A. Borderland Breeding Ranch System	259
B. Borderland Market Purchases	262
C. Court and Frontier Tribute Trade	266
CONCLUSION	270
9. Breaking Bonds	272
I. ENVIRONMENT	272
II. PATRIMONIAL POLITICS	274
A. Warlord and Sui-Tang Politics	275
B. Turko-Mongol Clients	276
C. Multipolar Competition	280
III. RITUALS OF SEVERANCE	283
CONCLUSION	286
Conclusion: Beyond the Silk Roads	288
I. CULTURE	288
II. POWER	290
III. CONNECTIONS	294

A. Agents 295
B. Circulation 295
C. Receptivity 298
CODA 300

Appendices 301

APPENDIX A: ATTACKS ON NORTH CHINA PREFECTURES, 599-755 301
APPENDIX B: NORTH CHINA POPULATION FROM HAN THROUGH NORTHERN SONG
DYNASTIES 313
APPENDIX C: TANG NORTHERN PREFECTURES 315
APPENDIX D: CHINESE DYNASTIES AND PERIODS MENTIONED IN TEXT 333
APPENDIX E: NORTHERN ZHOU, SUI, AND TANG EMPERORS OF CHINA AND TURKIC
RULERS OF MONGOLIA AND/OR INNER MONGOLIA 552-805 334

Notes 339

Bibliography 361

I. PRIMARY SOURCES 361
II. SECONDARY SOURCES AND TRANSLATIONS 363

Index with Chinese Character Glossary 385

LIST OF MAPS, FIGURES, AND TABLES

I. Maps

- Map 1.1: Eastern Eurasian Steppe and Desert 25
Map 1.2: China-Inner Asia Borderlands, Eighth Century 29
Map 1.3: Medieval Eastern Eurasia 36
Map 1.4: Tang Garrisons in the Early Eighth Century 49
Map 2.1: Lands of Western Türks (Tang Anxi Protectorate, Mid-Seventh to Mid-Eighth Centuries) 66
Map 6.1: Lands of the Western Türks and Sogdia 183

II. Figures

- Figure 0.1: Schematic Diagram of Eurasian Cultural Zones 7
Figure 5.1: The Imperial Sedan Chair 142
Figure 5.2: Statues of "Barbarian Monarchs and Chiefs" at Qianling 143
Figure 5.3: Western Turkic Statue, Xinjiang 157
Figure 5.4: Stone Relief of Qiu Xinggong with Tang Taizong's Charger 159

III. Tables

- Table 1.1: North China Population Trends 31
Table 1.2: Spatial and Chronological Analysis of Attacks on North China Prefectures, 599-755 40
Table 1.3: Attacks on North China by Rulers of Mongolia and/or Inner Mongolia, 599-755 43
Table 1.4: Türk Attacks and Tang-Türk Relations, 701-735 45
Table 6.1: Diplomatic Missions from Turkic Khanates of Mongolia to Tang Empire, 618-754 173
Table 7.1: Sui-Tang Interstate Marital Relationships 211
Table 7.2: Marriage Proposals with Failed or Unknown Outcomes 213
Table 7.3: Tang Marital Relationships with Post-Rebellion Regional Warlords 218

Table 7.4:	Sui and Tang Surname Bestowals, 580–800	231
Table 8.1:	Pastoral Nomadic Bridle District Census Data, ca. 742	250
Table 8.2:	Military Spending on Regular Forces and Auxiliary Cavalry	258
Table 8.3:	Sui-Tang Breeding Herd Sizes	261
Table 8.4:	Official Horse Prices at Xizhou Market, 742	264
Table 8.5:	Brands of Horses at a Xizhou Long-Distance Depot, 722	266
Table A.1:	Attacks on North China Prefectures, 599–755	302
Table B.1:	Han Population in North China, 2 CE	313
Table B.2:	Sui Population in North China, 609	313
Table B.3:	Tang Population in North China, 742	314
Table B.4:	Northern Song Population in North China, 1080	314
Table C.1:	Hexi Circuit	317
Table C.2:	Longyou Circuit	319
Table C.3:	Guannei Circuit	322
Table C.4:	Hedong Circuit	327
Table C.5:	Hebei Circuit	330
Table E.1:	Northern Zhou, Sui, and Tang Emperors of China and Turkic Rulers of Mongolia and/or Inner Mongolia, 552–805	334